St. Louis Area Foodbank

Annual Report to the Community

THE YEAR IN REVIEW:

America's largest charity evaluator, Charity Navigator, rated the St. Louis Area Foodbank one of only six local charities to receive its highest rating. The organization stated that the Foodbank received four out of four stars because we excel in successfully managing finances in an efficient and effective manner. Visit CharityNavigator.org for more information.

Representatives from the Foodbank joined the Missouri Food Bank

Association on a trip to Jefferson City in April. Their mission was to meet with members of the House of Representatives and Senate to discuss hunger issues across the state as part of the first annual Hunger Advocacy Day. Legislators were left with information packets including a list

From the President & Director

Dear Friends,

All of you know our primary function is to provide food to the less fortunate. We distribute food in St. Louis and the surrounding rural area - fourteen counties in Missouri and twelve in Illinois. The Foodbank has a small paid staff of only twenty-four and as hard as we might work and as dedicated as we might be, there is simply no way we could fulfill our task alone. The Foodbank's accomplishments were achieved because thousands of people got involved and helped out. So what did you and the Foodbank accomplish in 2004?

If we measure your success in terms of distribution, you distributed more than a million pounds of food each month. That's a lot of food. You helped senior citizens on fixed incomes to be able to afford their medications. You helped to lessen the burden of someone laid off from a job. You helped parents working in minimum wage jobs put food on the table so their children could stay healthy.

Why did you do it? Because it needed to be done. We couldn't do it alone and we asked for your help. We asked you to pack boxes each month in the warehouse, we asked restaurants to donate their time and expertise, we asked the St. Louis Rams and the St. Louis Cardinals to use their bully pulpit to bring attention to the problem of hunger, we asked you to support the Boy Scout and Postal worker food drives. We asked the food industry for donations and the media for publicity. And every time we asked, you said yes. You have given your time, your funds and your trust and the result is a community resource that helps feed 43,000 different people each week. This is your Foodbank, thank you for allowing us the opportunity to mold and guide it on your behalf.

Sincerely,

Ron Gorgen

of member agencies in their districts that provide food to local constituents.

Jenne, a research analyst at Monsanto headquarters in Creve

Coeur, was looking for a volunteer opportunity. "I was originally looking for something I could do on weekends," says Jenne. "But then I saw on the website that the St.

Louis Area Foodbank needed help and realized one of their warehouses is only a couple of miles from my work. Word spread throughout the office and soon some of Jenne's co-workers were joining her to volunteer over their lunch break. In 2004, the group spent more than 400 hours at the Foodbank!

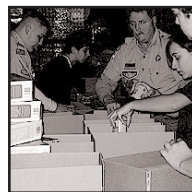

St. Louis Area Foodbank Executive Director Frank Finnegan was elected to serve on the Board of Directors for the National Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP). Operating in 34 states nationwide, CSFP - a program of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), provides food boxes on a monthly basis to more than 530,000 people.

Through its partnership with America's Second Harvest, Steak n Shake donated 173,000 STEAKBURGER patties to help feed the hungry in 18 states. The St. Louis Area Foodbank received more than 17,000 patties for the local community in need.

The 12th annual National Association of Letter Carriers' Food Drive was held in May and collected more than 300,000 pounds of food for our community in need.

National Hunger Awareness Day was held on June 3, 2004. In recognition of the event, the Foodbank held an All Agency Conference for nearly 150 representatives from agencies that assist the hungry. The conference offered a forum to discuss local and national hunger concerns, as well as specific topics such as Hunger Outreach and Food Stamp Advocacy.

From the beginning, the 892nd Transportation Company U.S. Army Reserves provided trailers and volunteer drivers to transport product collected from the annual Scouting for Food campaign. But when the unit was called to active duty in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom, planning for Scouting for Food encountered a serious snag. The Greater St. Louis Area Council, Boy Scouts of America spent most of October scouring the region for a volunteer replacement. In walks Sunset Transportation, Inc.

agreeing to step in for the deployed Reservists, providing vehicles, equipment, and volunteer drivers. Joining efforts with the community and local Scouts helped make Scouting for Food an overwhelming success once again collecting more than 2 million canned goods for families in need.

Members of the St. Louis Rams, including event team captain Jimmy Kennedy and team president John Shaw along with owner Georgia Frontiere greeted guests at the second annual Taste of the NFL in September. Presented by Edward Jones, Taste of the NFL is an extravaganza where guests sample wine, food prepared by members of the St. Louis Originals - an association including some of the most talented, unique independent restaurants and chefs in the area - while mingling with Rams' players and cheerleaders. The event raised more than $64,000 for the St. Louis Area Foodbank and the St. Louis Sports Commission.

Since 2000, local architects and engineers have shown off their talents by designing giant sculptures made completely out of canned goods during the local Canstruction competition. After the exhibition and the judging, all of the food used in the structures - nearly 16,000 pounds - was donated to the St. Louis Area Foodbank and the Harvey Kornblum Jewish Food Pantry - a Foodbank member agency.
